Please join us in congratulating our newest partners, Yuliya Flynn and Meredith Philipp.

Yuliya became a partner in March 2020. She practices business and corporate law and assists clients with various business matters. She continues to provide her clients with legal support as their “on-demand, in-house” counsel. Among routine corporate and business transactions, Yuliya is currently actively engaged in a settlement of an arbitration dispute in the government contracting field revolving around intricate issues of non-competition and enforceability of restrictive covenants in the government services industry. In 2021, she plans to continue expanding her practice and experience in the pharmaceutical world, while also supporting clients in other industries and growing the firm’s transactional practice together with Roger Samek.

Meredith is a construction and government contracts attorney. Along with Barbara Werther, she will be arbitrating a matter for an affordable housing developer in February. Following that case, she will be arbitrating a large default termination case with Barbara Werther and Laurin Mills in February.

In April, Meredith, Barbara and Laurin will have a two-week virtual bench trial in the United States District Court for the District of New Mexico in another default termination case. In addition to this heavy litigation calendar, Meredith and Barbara assist owners/developers and contractors with negotiating construction and design contracts. Meredith became a partner in January 2021.

On behalf of the firm, we welcome Yuliya and Meredith as partners and are excited for their futures!

Over the past year, we’ve welcomed three new hires to our ranks. Yelena Trepetin, Associate, came on board in February 2020 and is part of both the Business and Corporate and Litigation and Dispute Resolution practices. She focuses on transactional matters, construction contracts and dispute resolution. Kim Jandrain, Of Counsel, joined the firm in May 2020 and is part of the Litigation and Dispute Resolution practice and assists her clients in resolving business disputes and employment-related matters. Most recently, Nancy Mills, ESI Discovery Specialist, has become a member of the team. Nancy has extensive experience working as an eDiscovery attorney involved in large-volume electronically stored information cases.

We are pleased that our firm is in a growth spurt and look forward to introducing everyone (in person) by the third quarter of 2021, if not before.
